

VALE MONTANA TERRITORY

The New State Officers Assuming Their Important Duties at the Court House.

Gov. Toole Will Issue His Proclamation for the Legislature To-Morrow.

Scenes and Incidents Around the State House Among the New and Old Officials.

There was more life than usual around the county court house yesterday, the new and outgoing officials assuming their respective duties. Gov. Toole was in his office nearly the entire day, and received many callers, not a few of whom were ladies. The governor had not done an official act yet, and waited in vain for something to turn up. The governor was perfectly at home in his new quarters. Had Secretary Rotwitt arrived yesterday, the official proclamation calling the first state legislature together would have been issued. Mr. Rotwitt will arrive yesterday evening and will qualify to-morrow, when the proclamation will be issued. The legislature may be called within five days after the governor assumes the gubernatorial chair and shall be in session fifteen days after that time. It is very probable that the day of convening will be fixed for Monday the 18th inst.

Gov. Toole has not selected his private secretary yet. At the secretary's office Louis A. Walker and his efficient assistant, Miss Marie L. Mason, are prepared to surrender the office to Secretary Rotwitt. The new secretary will find everything about the office neat and trim. He will also find in one room a few copies of the state constitution which are proving an elephant on the state's hands. The constitutional convention ordered that these copies of the constitution should be distributed throughout the territory, but neglected to make any provision for the payment of postage or other charges for their delivery. There are nearly 25,000 copies piled up in the office and it will be some time before they can be distributed. The copies are in book form and are very neat and everybody should have one. They can be had for the asking.

Miss Mason, Secretary Walker's assistant, has attended to all incorporation certificates and made out certificates of appointments ordered by the governor. She is a competent and painstaking little lady, whom the newspaper fraternity will always remember for her courtesies.

Admiral Sullivan was busy yesterday making way for his successor, Edwin A. Kenney, who "got there" by a majority larger than any other candidate. Mr. Sullivan has made the court house his home for the past three years, and has been an honest and capable official. Mr. Sullivan will devote his time in the future to looking after his large property interests. Treasurer Prentiss is also vacating the court house, having kept a vigilant eye on the territorial funds. The busiest time of Mr. Prentiss ever had was when raising gophers was the chief industry in Montana. During that brief period of prosperity for the farmers and cowboys Mr. Prentiss paid out $42,000 for gopher tails. He leaves the state coffers in a much healthier condition, financially, than when he first learned the combination of the safe.

Treasurer Barden, county clerk and recorder Tooker and Sheriff Jeffries, who succeed themselves, are still doing business at the old stand, and have duly qualified for their duties under state government. Mr. Tooker finds that his quarters are too small for the rapidly increasing business. The recorder's office is filled all year long with clerks of abstract companies and persons looking up and copying records. Mr. Tooker has added a line of high desks to the office for the use of persons having business with the records.

Assessor Geo. Walker was found at his new office yesterday, and his visitors were invited to sample a box of good Havana cigars. Mr. Walker has what is vulgarly called a "snag." He will have nothing particular to do, unless it is draw his salary, until next fall. During the cold winter months, he will study up the topography of Lewis and Clark county and ascertain who owns all the property. He says he will soon draw a map of the county.

The district court is in a state of confusion, and is now in different floors. Judge W. H. Hunt opened court yesterday in the office formerly occupied by Probate Judge Howey. The probate court in Montana is now numbered among the things that were. The business of that court will be combined with the court of equity, or district court. Under the new law the district court will be continually in session, but Judge Hunt will divide it into different departments. He will probably have the probate business transacted in the room known as the probate court. Affairs are in such shape now that Judge Hunt hardly knows what to do. The new law has made the office of the clerk of the district court on the main floor and the court room on the second floor. Clerk Benn has assumed his duties and as considerable private business will devolve upon him, it is probable that the archives of the old probate court room will be transferred to the clerk's office, or vice versa. The county commissioners will in a few days order the necessary changes made.

The first session of the district court of Lewis and Clark county was opened yesterday at 10 o'clock, a. m. As it is quite a memorable event to have the honor of being first in action in the different departments of state the first case before the first district judge in the first judicial district court of Montana is worthy of record. The first business transacted was the swearing in of Dr. W. L. Steele and Cornelius Hedges as witnesses in hearing a petition for letters of administration in the estate of Phoebe Rand, deceased, the petition being from Mrs. M. H. Hedges, widow of the deceased. The court ordered that letters of administration issue, on the condition that Mrs. Hedges first in several events. He was the first man to register under the new law and was among the first to congratulate Gov. Toole, was the first witness to be sworn by Judge Hunt, and will be the first state senator from Lewis and Clark county.

Judge Hunt announced yesterday that district court will convene Monday at 11 o'clock in the district court room. Let Word, the genial clerk of the supreme court, was busy putting his office in shape for Mr. Cope, his successor. In a few days all the state and county officers will be located in their new quarters, and business will continue just the same as it did under territorial rule, with the exception of the judiciary department.

Commendable. All claims not consistent with the high character of the California Fig Syrup company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Ladies should call at Fred Garner's and get a pair of slippers, as he is selling them at a very low figure.

Teachers' Institute. The teachers' institute of Lewis and Clark county will meet next Thursday, Nov. 14, at the high school room of the central school building. The meeting will continue three days, closing Saturday at noon. Prof. Young, city superintendent of schools, who is a good institute worker, will take a prominent part in the proceedings. Music promise to be of unusual interest. Music from the different class rooms from day to day will be an important feature. It is earnestly requested that all county teachers will attend this session of the institute.

THE WATER DEAL.

The Consolidated Company Will Accept a Five Year Contract.

"You called the turn," remarked a citizen yesterday. "It was only a bluff that Woolston made when he said he would not accept a water contract for less than ten years. He knew he could not get it for that time, so he thought by making a 'play' he would have a sure thing of a five-year contract."

Chairman Loeb was notified yesterday that the consolidated company was willing to accept a five-year contract. Mr. Woolston departed yesterday for the east, having left all the necessary instructions as to accepting a five-year contract. Mr. Woolston left with the firm belief that he had the five-year contract, but if Alderman Harrison insists on his theory advanced Friday the company will not get more than a one year contract. In fact, several members have expressed themselves as unwilling to let a five-year contract. The water committee and representatives of the water company will meet to-day to try and arrive at some agreement, which will not be acted upon until next Thursday at the session of the city council.
